Mizuho Marubeni Leasing Corporation

Announcement of Acquisition of 20% interest in San Roque Power Corporation in the Philippines

Mizuho Marubeni Leasing Corporation (“MML”) hereby announces its acquisition of a 20% shareholding in San Roque Power Corporation (“SRPC”), a hydroelectric power generation company in the Philippines. The shares were purchased from Marubeni Corporation’s indirect wholly-owned subsidiary in the Philippines.

Since the commencement of its operation in 2003, SRPC has been responsible, for the operation and maintenance of the hydroelectric power generating facility (435MW) located in Pangasinan Province, in the Philippines, which facility forms part of the San Roque Multipurpose Dam Project of the Philippine Government.

MML targets overseas infrastructure projects as one of its core business areas to invest in the mid-term business plan. As such, MML regards SRPC’s environmentally sustainable and stable infrastructure business to coincide with the growth strategy and aspires to further develop its business through this opportunity.
